

WYOMING BEAT RECORD

New Battleship Proves Her Superiority Over All of the Big Gun Ships of the World

ROCKLAND, Me., July 20—All speed records for big gun battleships were broken yesterday by the new United States battleship Wyoming, sister ship of the super-Dreadnought Arkansas, during her standardization trials. Her speed of 22.045 knots is declared by naval experts, who were aboard, to be the fastest time ever made by any battleship in the world carrying twelve-inch guns. The Arkansas, during her trials a month ago, placed the record at 21.493 knots.

A strike in the fire room during the full speed runs interfered somewhat with the operation of the vessel and even better speed might have been made, according to the officials but for this trouble. The firemen struck for more pay and before the difficulty was adjusted the steam fell off considerably and the speed likewise.

In spite of the trouble the Wyoming not only broke the full speed record but also bettered the Arkansas average for the five-top speed runs. The Wyoming's average was 21.323 knots and the Arkansas, considered a world's record until yesterday, 21.153.

The Wyoming made the customary 22 standardization runs over the measured mile course, making three runs each at 10, 12, 15, 17.5, 18 and 20 knots and five at top speed. Her best time was made on the 21st run.

The Wyoming is 26,000 tons displacement.

During the trial yesterday the builders, William Crump & Sons, Philadelphia, were represented by President Henry B. Grove and Vice President J. W. Hand. The naval trial board was headed by Capt. A. F. Fochter, with Commander T. J. Sonn, as recorder. Commander Carl T. Vogelgesang, who is to be executive officer of the Wyoming when she is turned over to the government, was also aboard. The vessel is 99 per cent completed, and it is expected will be put in commission about the middle of August.

The Wyoming left Rockland at daybreak this morning for a series of trial runs down the coast, and will wind up at Philadelphia about Tuesday morning.

ENLISTED MEN TO BE RESTRAINED FROM DOING WORK

Without Any Penalty Attached to the Violation of the Law.

The provision prohibiting enlisted men from doing work in the navy yard will be amended so as not to deprive them of their pay in the event that they are employed contrary to law. It is proposed to shape it so that they will be restrained from doing the work, without any penalty attached to the violation of the law.

It is apparent to the conferees that it would be disastrous to discipline in the navy if any law is enacted which directed enlisted men not to obey the commands of superior officers, and at the same time it would be a great injustice to them if they did come to work for which they would not receive pay. The conferees have not gotten together on the senate amendment for the abolishment of the law.

There is a disposition to compromise on the items under the head of public works. In all probability the senate will recede on some items and the house on others. The house conferees will probably sustain the position of the house committee on the appropriation for the powder plant.

This was amended on the floor of the house so as to prohibit the purchase of powder. The senate struck out this prohibition and in all probability the conferees will vote in favor of an authorization of $650,000, and an appropriation of $325,000 for the purchase and manufacture of powder.

WANT CLOSING AT 11 P. M.

LENGTHY REPLY FORTHCOMING

Taft's Friends Will Make Answer To Roosevelt's Charges of Fraud In Seating Delegates

WASHINGTON, July 20—The reply of President Taft and his friends to Colonel Roosevelt's repeated charges of "fraud" and the "stealing of delegates" in the Chicago convention, promises to be issued from several sources in Washington next week, couched in terms that will be in many ways a counter-attack upon the Roosevelt pre-convention campaign.

The statement that will be issued from the White House, the final draft of which was considered at a two hours meeting of the cabinet, today, will be an exhaustive analysis of the contest cases and a reply to all of the Roosevelt charges of unfair dealing on the part of Taft's friends on the Republican national committee and the credentials committee.

While this statement will not, so far as can now be learned, make any direct charges against the Roosevelt managers, it is understood that Taft supporters in the house propose to attack in unmeasured terms, the contest brought by the Roosevelt forces in southern states, many of which were unanimously decided against the Roosevelt contestants.

Representative Frank W. Mondell of Wyoming, who is a member of the credentials committee at the Chicago convention, will make one of the chief speeches defending the seating of the Taft delegates at Chicago. While his speech will deal principally with the cases of the 72 delegates against whom the Roosevelt forces made their chief fight at Chicago, he let it be known today that he would attack the Roosevelt contests in southern states and attempt to show that they had been brought "without foundation."

Representative Bartholdt, of Missouri, who participated in the work of the national committee, will also defend the action of that committee. Senator Root had been suggested as the spokesman for the Taft forces in the Senate, but he and today he did not expect to speak upon the subject of the Chicago contest.

VALUATION PER POLL CAPITA IS HIGHEST HERE IN STATE

Typical Citizen is Deduced As Being Wealthier Here Than In Any Other City.

Statistics compiled from the last statement of the state tax commission show that the average valuation per poll capita is higher in Portsmouth than in any city or town of New Hampshire and that the appropriation annually made by the city council averages higher on the basis of polls than that of any sister city or town. As a result of those figures it is deduced that either the average citizen of the city is wealthier than his New Hampshire brother or that the local board of assessors have been taxing property nearer its true value.

From the figures pertaining to the appropriations made by city council it is shown that each council recklessly appropriates more than is ordinarily needed for the maintenance of the city.

Portsmouth has 5771 polls. The property valuation at the last report of the state commission was $9,138,550. Therefore the average valuation of each person paying a poll tax in this city is $3294. But two towns in all New Hampshire have anywhere near as high a valuation as that of the average voter of this city. They also are in Rockingham county, Rye and Hampton.

Rye has 255 polls and its assessed valuation is $782,550, an average of $3070, which is 294 less than this city. Hampton has 325 polls and its assessed valuation is $850,735, an average of $2618, which is 676 less than in this city. Those two towns contain many rich summer homes which greatly add to their valuation. The owners of these homes pay poll taxes elsewhere so by their absence the average valuation is raised considerably nearer that of this city.

Portsmouth appropriated $209,510.50 last year, for which the latest figures throughout the state are obtainable. The appropriation, this year, is higher than ever before. From that appropriation and the number of polls it is shown that $35.51 is raised by the city council for each poll tax payer of this city to run the city a year. Rye and Hampton appropriate but $19 and $50 a year for each poll.

Against the average valuation of $3294 in this city are the valuations per poll capita of the following cities, as shown by the latest figures obtainable from the state commission: Manchester, $2310; Nashua, $2248; Dover, $2371; Berlin, $1664; Keene, $2800; Franklin, $1798; Rochester, $1984; Concord, $2219; Laconia, $1774.

In comparison to the average appropriation per poll capita is shown the following: Nashua, $18.18; Manchester, $11.00 at all stores.

$16.45; Dover, $54; Somersworth, $47; Berlin, $36.30; Keene, $48; Franklin, $30; Rochester, $16; Concord, $49.95. Those figures show that the councils of this city appropriate twice as much money per capita as some of the cities of the state. As a consequence the tax rate becomes higher.

FIFTY HOURS OF SLEEP Strange Case of a Workman at Salisbury Beach.

Henry Smith, an employee of A. J. Brissette, at Salisbury Beach, has been asleep for the past 50 hours, despite all efforts to arouse him, and his case is attracting considerable attention there.

Mr. Smith came to Salisbury Beach from Paragon park. Two days ago he went into the theatre building, and lay down and fell asleep, and has been sleeping ever since. Dr. Spaulding of Salisbury was called into the case and worked over the sleeping man, but failed to arouse him. If he continues to sleep much longer it is probable that he will be removed to the hospital as all the time the man has been sleeping he has not eaten anything for nourishment.

It is said by those that are acquainted with him that he has had these

The Boston & Maine station at Greenland on the Eastern route was broken into last night. O'TOOLE PANNED BY DREYFUS

Barney Says He Can Go Out Himself Any Time and Give Bases on Balls.

PITTSBURG, Pa., July 20.—That he is becoming tired and disgusted with the frequency with which Marty O'Toole, the spitball pitcher for whom he paid the record-breaking price of $22,500, is being trounced, was made known last night by President Barney Dreyfuss, while holding a "post-mortem" over the loss of the first game here yesterday afternoon with the New York Giants. The "high priced one" was outpitched in the conflict by "Rube" Marquard, for whom McGraw paid less than one-half the amount paid by the Pirate magnate for the Titan-haired hurler.

Dreyfuss was madder than a wet hen. Some one suggested that Carey should be censured for being caught napping off first base in the eighth chapter of the game. They did score one run in this inning, and Carey being thrown out, lost another.

"It is all O'Toole's fault, and Carey should not be blamed for the loss of that game," Dreyfuss said. "It is no necessary to pay a pitcher a high salary to go in there and hand out three walks in one inning. I can go out on the mound and do as good myself and save the salary of a pitcher. There is no excuse for such miserable pitching." Dreyfuss is not wont to find fault with his players, but he could not refrain from pouring forth his pent-up indignation over the work of his high-priced twirler.

RECEPTION TO REIDPATH

Ovation Planned for Syracuse Winner in Olympic Races.

SYRACUSE, N. Y., July 20.—An ovation such as no home coming citizen of Syracuse has ever before received is to be accorded Charles D. Reidpath on his return from the Olympic games, where he won the 400-metre run. The plans for his reception are in charge of the Mystique Krewe of Ko-Noo-Noo, a society whose principal object is to "boost Syracuse."

According to an officer of the Mystique Krewe, "no other person has ever done so much in so short a space of time to bring fame and glory to the city of Syracuse university as Charles D. Reidpath."

BETWEEN BRITISH BOATS

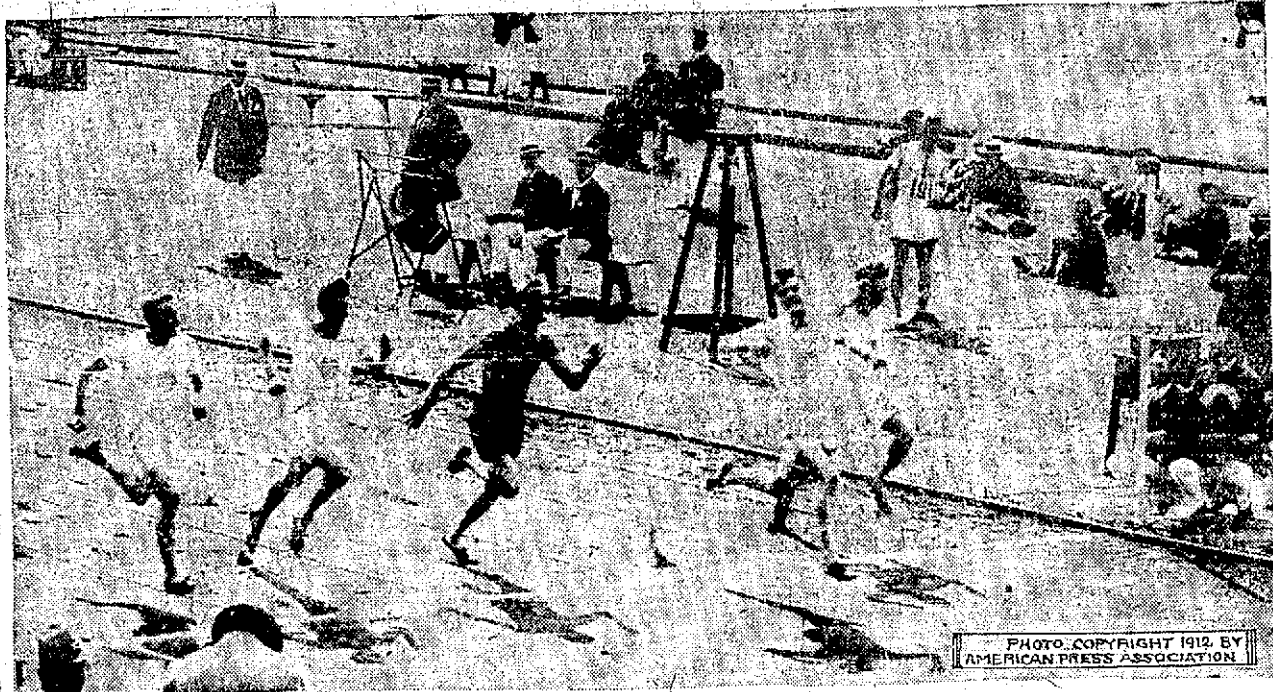

Final Heat of Eight Oared Race at Stockholm.

STOCKHOLM, July 20.—Two British boats were left to fight out the final heat of the out-rigger eight-oared shell race yesterday. They were the Leander crew, which had an unexpectedly easy victory over the eight representing the Berlin Rowing club in the semi-final yesterday morning and New College, Oxford, which rowed over the course.

Leander and Berlin in their semi-final heat, were on even terms for the first quarter of the distance. At the

Ralph Craig, Chief Point Scorer for

United States Team at Olympic Games

STOCKHOLM, Sweden, July 20.—The 1912 Olympic games are now a matter of history. The United States team captured the international honors by winning 85 per cent of the events and scored more points than all other nations combined. The total point output of the United States amounted to six times the number credited to Great Britain and four times the score of Finland, the United States' nearest competitor. Several surprises, as usual, marked the games, the most noted being the defeat of Jones, Kiviat and Shepard in the 1500 metre run and the downfall of Jim Duncan in the discus throw. These setbacks were more than made up, however, by the great showing of the American sprinters and fall of Jim Duncan in the discus throw. Great credit is due Ralph Craig of Detroit, who won the 100 and 200 metre other weight throwers, who made a clean sweep of four events. Craig is the chief point scorer for the United States and as such undoubtedly deserves considerable credit, which he undoubtedly will get whenever the story of the United States victory at Stockholm is related. The above picture shows Craig winning the 100 metre race; Albah Meyers of N. Y. I. A. A. C. second.

half the Britishers assumed the lead which they held until the end. The Englishmen easily held the Berlin eight's plucky spurt and paddled home, winning by half a length in 8 minutes 16.1-5 seconds.

In the semi-finals of the outrigger fours, Ludwigshafen beat Denmark by 2-4 lengths in 5 minutes 51 seconds. The boat representing the Thames Rowing club beat the Christiansia by a quarter of a length in 7 minutes 12 seconds.

In the semi-finals of the single sculls Veerman, Belgium, beat Kusik, Russia by a length in 7 minutes, 41 seconds. Kinnear, England, beat E. B. Butler Toronto, by two lengths in 7 minutes 37.2-5 seconds.

AMERICANS TO PARTICIPATE

Members of Olympic Team in Berlin for Athletic Games.

BERLIN, July 20.—Thirteen members of the American Olympic team arrived here yesterday to participate in the athletic games which are to be held Sunday.

There is the greatest interest among German sportsmen at the prospect of another meeting between James E. Meredith of Mercersburg academy and Hans Braun, who the Germans claim would have won the 300 metres flat at Stockholm if he had not been boxed, and in the high jump Harline of Leland Stanford university who is determined to remove the stain of his defeat at the Stockholm games.

In a rattling good game on Friday evening the Y. M. C. A. defeated the P. A. C. by a score of 1 to 0, thereby making a considerable change in the standing of the league. The P. A. C. drop into third place and the Y. M. C. A. come up to fourth place. The Y. M. C. A. won the game with a lone run in the first inning to which Weare contributed largely. He passed George McPheters who advanced to second on Hatch's sacrifice which Weare failed to handle, went to third on an out to Newick and scored when Fisher threw to catch him off the base and the ball shot over the base with nobody covering it. Other than this inning Weare was in fine form, he al-hard work to run, he played a fine game.

The game in detail:

The Champions were up and George Woods struck out, Wilbur hit to Hatch who threw him out at first, and Newick was out to C. Brackett.

George McPheters started with a passy, he went to second on Hatch's sacrifice which Weare fumbled and W. Brackett hit a hard grounder down to first that Newick stopped and to beat out the runner had to slide for the base. McPheters going to third, Gowen struck out and Fisher threw to third to get McPheters off the base and there was nobody there and Mac scored. R. Brackett was thrown out by Wilbur.

Score—Y. M. C. A., 1; P. A. C., 0.

Second Inning.

Tredick fled out to Hatch who made a great one-handed catch after missing the ball. Fisher hit a liner over first that Gowen nailed, and W. Woods struck out.

Weaver was out on a high foul fly to Fisher. C. Brackett walked, but was forced at second on Howard's grounder to Weare. Leary singled over second and McPheters gave Weare an easy chance and retired the side.

Third Inning.

Locke was thrown out by McPheters and Weare and Mattison struck out. The Y. M. C. A. were out in order. Hatch on a fly that Locke made a fine catch of. W. Brackett, Weare to Newick and Gowen, Mattison to Newick.

Fourth Inning.

It looked like a run in this inning. G. Woods hit over second base that Hatch and Leary went after and it dropped between them. Wilbur hit to right, Newick hit to Hatch who threw to Bill Brackett forcing Wilbur at second and doubling Newick at first, and with a man on third Tredick fanned.

The Y. M. C. A. were out in short order. R. Brackett hit one over short that Mattison made a fine catch of and Weaver and C. Brackett struck out.

Fifth Inning.

After Fisher had struck out and W. Woods had gone out on a fly to Hatch Locke singled, Weare followed with a single to right that Weaver fumbled allowing Locke to go to third, but Mattison fled out to Howard.

DISAGREEMENT OVER NAVAL BILL STILL ON

May Lose This Year An Appropriation For Quay Wall.

WASHINGTON, July 19.—Senator Tillman's refusal to abandon a $300,000 improvement at the Charleston, S. AT PLAYGROUNDS

The girls were very busy yesterday afternoon and worked hard to swell the number of points for their schools in order to win the Harvey Trophy. The Whipple School gained the largest number of points, but were only two points ahead of the Parochialists, when the dust cleared away. Whipple's victory was largely due to the good work of Gladys Joy, who gained twenty-one points; Beatrice Buckley of the Parochialists was second with a score of twenty points.

A new feature in the form of hoop rolling was introduced and proved exciting and interesting. The standing of the schools is as follows:

Whipple—134 points.
Parochial—53 points.

Farragut—16 points.

The following are the results of the contests:

SUFFRAGETTES ARRESTED ON SERIOUS CHARGES

DUBLIN, July 19.—Eight English women have been taken into custody by the police in connection with the outrages perpetrated here last night on the arrival of Mr. Asquith, by suffragettes who have been constantly dogging the heels of the British Premier since he left England.

The women are charged with complicity in the attempt made to burn down the Dublin Theatre, where Mr. Asquith is scheduled to speak today. A blazing chair was thrown into the orchestra from a box occupied by two women, who then set fire to the box curtains. Their act caused a panic among the audience.

One of the women was arrested last night. She gave the name of Gladys Evans, and said she came from England.

The eight suffragettes are now charged with complicity in the attempt to injure Mr. Asquith by throwing a hatchet at the Premier's carriage as the party was proceeding from the wharf to a hotel.

THEY ALL DEMAND IT

Portsmouth, Like Every City and Town in the Union, Receives It.

People with kidney ills want to be cured. When one suffers the tortures of an aching back, relief is eagerly sought for. There are many remedies today that relieve, but do not cure. Doan's Kidney Pills have brought lasting results to thousands. Here is Portsmouth evidence of their merit.

D. A. Berry, 174 Congress St., Portsmouth, N. H., says: "Doan's Kidney Pills did a member of our family more good than any other remedy he ever tried. The person referred to is enjoying and jarring of the ears weakened his kidneys. His back was very lame and at times his whole body became sore. Learning that Doan's Kidney Pills were a fine remedy for kidney complaint, he procured a box at Philbrick's Drug Store and began using them. Before long a cure was effected and from that day to this, kidney trouble has not returned. I also used Doan's Kidney Pills and they cured me of lameness in my back and strengthened my kidneys."

BITS OF SPORT

Benjamin H. Van Dyke, the Worcester baseball club's premier pitcher who has been sold to the Boston Red Sox for $5000 will report to that club the first week in September.

The Worcester management states that Van Dyke will remain with the Worcester team until the season closes in the New England league, on September 7. However, if he works in one of the games a few days prior to then, Van Dyke will be allowed to depart for his new berth before that date.

This is Van Dyke's season with the Worcester club. He went there in 1910 and won 21 of the 23 games he worked in, and to date he has won 14 of his 18 games. Just now Van Dyke is laid off because of a split finger on the left hand, his throwing hand. He expects to get back into the game Monday.

The Philadelphia's with all their players back in form are proving troublesome to all other clubs in the National league.

It must have been a moment of pleasure to Christy Mathewson as the twelfth anniversary of his advent into the big leagues rolled around Thursday to note that he was still the mainstay of the Giants, in fact the only pitcher at that moment on whom John McGraw could rely and the only man to have won a game on this Western trip. Each spring for the past several years, certain prophets have predicted the downfall of Matty.

He never shows well early in the season. But July and August always find him going at his best, has been enough to beat the best clubs in the National league for twelve years.

Joe Benz, Jimmie Callahan's promising young spitballer has a very profound respect for the batting prowess of Larry Lajoie. He says the big Nap is the bane of his pitching existence. When Benz first joined the White Sox he asked for some pointers on the heavy hitters of the league and was told concerning Lajoie to groove one for the big Frenchman. He did it. And he ducked just in time to cheat the undertaker out of a job. Since then he admits Lajoie has nothing resembling a batting weakness.

Walter Cox is certainly making a fine cleanup at Kalamazoo during the week and in the event, went away with the $10,000 purse. Cox turned that trick on Wednesday and followed up the next day by landing the 25 pace of $1000, beside annexing a first money of $1000 in a trotting event. His victory of Wednesday was the first $10,000 purse he ever captured, but he is credited with making a big wager himself previous to the opening of the season that he would capture such a purse during the present summer.

The Boston Braves are the derelicts of the National league following no particular course and being knocked about by any and all clubs. The Braves have on their roster some of the best known players in the game, cast off of some of the best clubs of both leagues, destined to finish their careers in the scrap heap of base ball. Many of these players have forgotten more of the fine points of the game than some of the rising stars will ever know, but they have lost the ability, the speed to put ideas into execution, which tells the whole story of Boston floundering at the fall end of the league.

SAILORS OBJECT TO SAILING FRIDAYS

BOSTON, July 19.—Many of the sailors on board the British ship Pass of Balmaha and the Italian bark Allie demurred when they were ordered, early this morning, to make preparations to put to sea. The seamen's superstition of sailing on a long passage on Friday was plainly evident, and it required some urging to get the men aloft to shake out the sails. The men on both vessels had been deeply interested until today, for there were prospects of a great sea race of 7000 miles between the two square riggers. They have been impatient to get away, but the weather the past three days delayed the vessels.

Few of them liked the idea of sailing today, but the captains would not let the opportunity pass and they decided to take advantage of the brisk westerly breeze that was blowing. There were some murmurings among the men about disaster that would overtake the vessels because of leaving port on Friday. The crew of the Allie, all of whom are Italians, deserted rather than go to sea on Friday if it had been possible to get ashore. But the two vessels had been anchored in the stream for several days so the men were unable to leave.

Early this morning the preparations for leaving began. The Pass of Balmaha, Capt. Lee, hoisted anchor shortly after 7 a. m. and started downstream in tow of the tugboat Neposet. An hour later the Allie moved away behind the tug Nollie. The ship went out by Boston Light at 8.45 a. m., and the Allie followed at 10 o'clock. The tugs towed the vessels to a point below Thieves Ledge, and then the tow lines were cast off and the ship and bark started off to the eastward under full sail. The Pass of Balmaha was about six miles in the lead. Both vessels are fast sailers, and it is expected that the race between the two will be very close.

The Pass of Balmaha is bound to Buenos Aires, with 1502,011 feet of white pine, oak, ash and poplar, while the destination of the Allie is Concepcion del Uruguay, where her cargo of 500,000 feet of white pine and spruce lumber will be discharged.

OUR CANDIDATES

For President,
WILLIAM H. TAFT,
of Ohio.For Vice-President,
JAMES S. SHERMAN,
of New York.

Portsmouth, N. H., Saturday, July 20, 1912.

The Two Greatest Mistakes Man Ever Made.

To hold by the people's suffrage the office of President of the United States is, with a single exception here worth nothing, the highest honor that this earth has to offer to ambition, says the New York Sun. The one superior glory and honor conceivable is to be an ex-President of the United States possessing the admiration and affection of the American people and passing with dignity into history carrying the respect of the whole world.

We had thought that when Theodore Roosevelt rejected this higher honor for no other real reason than to feed an insatiable personal craving he made the greatest mistake possible to a man of his discernment.

But he seems bent on proving his capacity for worse mischief to his own fame and future. His first purpose was to gain for himself a third term—a fourth term, perhaps, and a fifth—by means of the Republican organization. Failing in that he devoted himself to the destruction of Mr. Taft by means of an independent political organization, running separate tickets for electors wherever he does not think he can steal the votes of the regular Republican electors. Now in the mania of his progressive recklessness he has undertaken to destroy the Republican organization in detail; in all the congressional districts, in the field of lesser politics down to the minutest division. He is plotting the death of the Republican party, to which he owes everything that he has gained in the course of his remarkable career.

How far is this folly of wanton disruption to go? Is the Republican vote to be split with regard to every candidate who runs for minor office this fall? Himself self-ended by one stupendous blunder, has he now made up his mind to go into history as the man who wrecked the party of Abraham Lincoln? It looks decidedly as if he meant in his blindness and madness to put his arms around the columns and pull the structure down around him, burying Bill Flinn and all the rest.

Our Unnoticed Heroes.

One kind of heroism is displayed every summer by many teachers, declares the New York Evening Post. No calling has more right to a vacation, but they give up most of the holiday relaxation, and summon courage to go to the summer school. Here is no small sacrifice. It means the daily seat in some drowsy lecture hall, and the evening spent indoors under the hot glow of a lamp about which a June-bug jumps. This is no mere selfish ambition. It contains the germ of the finest renunciation—the sacrifice of personal pleasures to learn how to perform more perfectly the task of educating others. It is but one more bit of evidence of the nobility of true teaching.

Where Is the Portsmouth Spirit?

Where is the Portsmouth spirit? The citizens have undertaken to raise $7500.00 to purchase the equipment of the Portsmouth and Exeter line to Greenland and the committee is now about $2,000.00 short of the amount required. It is up to our citizens to see this matter through. We must not let the rails in our public streets be torn up. We must not go backward. The money must be raised and The Herald hopes to see some of our patriotic citizens come forward and help the scheme to save the road. Who will be the first one?

Bird's-Eye Views.

A walking club in New York holds out exceptional social advantages as an inducement to join. To walk into New York society is a new fad.

When is it going to be possible to alight from a street car without being howled over by some automobilist with more gasoline than sense?

Two Minneapolis youths have been sentenced to 10 days in jail for calling a woman a chicken. Now what would have happened to them if they had called her a hen?

The American marines of Peking won first place in target practice at 300, 400 and 500 yards against the military guards of the other legations. Peace hath its victories.

"Why are minors depressing?" asks an exchange. Some big lawyer who has had them shipped back to him might be able to tell you.

Wilson enthusiasm now salutes Virginia as the mother of Presidents. Mr. Ryan regards her as the stepmother of a New York delegate.

Among the world's hardest workers are certainly to be numbered the convention cliques.

Those Wor the Days.

Those wor the days lads! Ah, ha! those wor the days!
When ye came home from work, yer mould was at aise;
Wid yer shins at the fire a dragging yer polle;
Whilst Maggie was giving the dishes a wipe,
And Mary, the baby, up in her high chair;
Wid gravy and crumbs from her chin to her hair;
Thin Tommy and Danny, just startin' a fight;
To see who wud bring in the coal for the night.
It's not that ways now, tho'; ye may talk as ye please!
Those wor the days lads! Ah, ha! those wor the days!
On a Saturday night into town wid the boys;
A baggin' wid Goldstein the price of a suit,
And comin' away wid a nicktie to boot;
And on the way home schtoppin' off at McHale's
For a drop o' the stuff and one or two ales;
Thin landin' back home to find Mag hill asleep,
Wid a frown on her face (twas only shkin deep;
For awo or three minutes the devil she'd raise!
Those wor the days lads! Ah, ha! those wor the days!

Those wor the days lads! Ah, ha! those wor the days!
Whin o'ld fashioned people hod could fashioned ways;
It's not that ways now, tho'; the child der are grown,
And Mag, she's in heaven, and I'm all alone!
They waive me dressed up loike I owned an estate,
For they're all well-to-do—but oo up to-date—
Wid automobiles and their parties call'd "bridge"—

Look back 40 years—those wor no such displays—
Those wor the days lads! Ah, ha! those wor the days!

Murdered by the System
Hermin Isensthal was murdered by cold blood by the system. The system is the partnership between the police of New York city and the criminals of New York city. This partnership is an organized conspiracy against the life and property of 5,000,000 persons. This partnership buys and sells the privilege of violating the laws of New York. It buys and sells the privilege of overriding the acts of the New York legislature. It buys and sells the privilege of nullifying the penal code. When necessary to its purposes it buys and sells the privilege of committing murder. It makes itself superior to commissioners to mayors, to governors and to all other lawful authorities within the state of New York.

Sane Summer Clothes.

Some of the hottest days of summer slay as many as or more than an insane fourth of July did a few years back. But there is no public authority to decree that men shall wear sane clothes in the heated term, and the slaughter goes on. A glance at a crowd in the street when the official thermometer is registering more than 90 degrees shows how little progress is made toward more sensible summer clothing at least among men. A quarter of a century ago men perhaps dressed more appropriately when starched shirt prevailed and when waistcoats were more generally held to be indispensable. But in recent years about the only progress toward more suitable hot weather attire is the use of less starch. Having first disappeared from the bosom of shirts, it is now vanishing more or less commonly from their cuffs and collars. But the coat remains as conservatively oppressive as ever. Perhaps one man in a hundred wears clothes of some light washable fabric but the number does not increase from year to year. Such clothing is cheaper than woolen clothing and might be worn with advantage on a good many summer days besides those which have their record of deaths printed in the next morning's papers. But the public clings to its ancient habit of dress with unreasonable and uncomfortable government by some prejudice or some notion of dignity. New York Tribune.

The President and the Lorimer Case.

The Senate resolution which in effect rebuked the President for alleged activity in making votes against the retention of his seat by Lorimer is one of those things that while technically correct and justifiable is in a practical sense ridiculous. The Lorimer case now closed by an overwhelming declaration by the Senate that the election was invalid through the improper use of money, has interested practically every citizen of the United States. It has been discussed at every crossroads and country post office and corner store, in all walks of life and with regard to politics. The general opinion throughout the country has been unquestionably in favor of the action that the Senate has just taken. The President of the United States had every reason to be interested in this case. As a head of his party he was naturally concerned in it. It was more than an affair strictly between senators; it affected national politics. It had a southern tinge and the fortunes of the party fall the attempt to secure Republican of which the President is the titular head and it was the most natural thing to a policy of disrupting the Republican

CURRENT OPINION

BY WILLIAM CUSHING WAIT,
Of the Massachusetts Superior Court.

If by the "recall" is meant simply a means of terminating the commission of a corrupt or incompetent judge, after proper investigation and an opportunity for the accused to present fully his defense, I believe in the recall. We have such a recall in Massachusetts.

If by the "recall" is meant a process of terminating the commission of any judge whenever by his conduct he has displeased a majority of his fellow citizens, I do not believe in it, and I think it would be a serious menace to the public welfare.

The existing law sometimes fails to please a majority of the citizens, but Judge is not at liberty to disregard it and decide as he thinks a majority wishes. He must decide upon and follow the law as it is. This is a fundamental principle in any government that government was intended to be a government of laws and not of men.

In speaking in a general way of business and the courts, it may be thought to be going far afield in some of the things I may say. Yet there is a real connection in the various matters touched upon.

I can conceive of no greater misfortune than to have the public convinced that its courts are untrustworthy. I do not believe such a state of the public mind has been reached, and I want to do what I can to prevent so unhappy an event.

Much public apprehension is due, in my judgment, to a misunderstanding of the function of the judicial branch of the Government, to a failure to appreciate just what part the courts have to perform in securing a healthy body politic any form of government rests on the supremacy of law.

the world, that the occupant of the White House should interest himself in it, should discuss it with his friends, and particularly with the members of the Senate. That he brought pressure to bear upon the senators to vote against Lorimer on either the first or second trial of the case is not alleged and would be an improper suggestion. That he expressed a hope that the Senate would purge itself by declaring the election invalid is entirely likely, and as to be considered as to his credit, rather than as a usurpation of authority. Of course, the President of the United States technically has no right to interfere in ordinary membership questions of either house of Congress, and the strict letter of resolution adopted by the Senate the other day imply asserts this principle, which requires no formal censure. It is to be deplored that the resolution was formulated and pressed, and especially that a majority of the Senate saw fit to support it and thus perhaps create the impression that the President as transgressed in this matter. A far more dignified procedure than adoption of this really meaningless but ostensibly mischievous resolution could have been to lay it on the table by a decisive vote. Washington Star.

Party Tickets and November.

On election day in November men who profess and call themselves Republicans will have a presidential ticket to vote for. Taft and Sherman have been regularly nominated, and in every state are entitled to the designation of Republican candidates.

Equally so will men who profess and call themselves Democrats have a presidential ticket to vote for. Wilson and Marshall are Democrats, and represent regular party action in this campaign. And men who profess and call themselves Rooseveltians will have a ticket to vote for. Mr. Roosevelt himself will lead it, and some man of the Rooseveltian faith—it matters nothing where he lives, or what his name may be—will complete it for form's sake.

There will be Republicans voting for Wilson, on the score of what they call progressiveness. They consider Mr. Taft a reactionary. As to the future, these men may or may not return to the Republican party. If Mr. Wilson is elected and in office meets their expectations as to progress they are likely to stay with him and support him or a second term. If he is defeated, and Mr. Taft's second term redeems him in their eyes, they are likely to be Republicans again in 1916.

There will be Democrats voting for Mr. Taft, on the score of what they call sane and safe conservatism. They consider Mr. Wilson a radical—more extreme and more dangerous than the man who converted him. As between him and Mr. Bryan they would prefer the latter. If Mr. Taft is elected and an office continues to meet the expectations of these men they are likely to support the Republican candidate in 1916. If he is defeated, for a time at least they will be adrift, with eyes peeled for a friendly sail.

The men who support Mr. Roosevelt will be neither Republicans nor Democrats, but simply Rooseveltians. If hitherto Republicans, they will have abandoned that party, on the score that it has outlived its usefulness and should be destroyed. If Democrats, they will have taken a similar position as to their old party. All alike hold now, and will hold on election day, that a new party is essential to the salvation of the country, and that only Mr. Roosevelt is capable of guiding that party in the path of usefulness. So far as they can figure, the country has arrived at the one-man stage. It is not a case of four years more of Theodore, but of Theodore for life. They are for making an assignment, and he is their choice for assignee.

It is well to keep these things in view, so that "psychologists" working with "psychological means" for "psychological effect," may not confuse and mislead a trusting public. The attempt to lead a trustful public, by fake news, to a Chicago convention, by fake news, to a southern contest failed. So also should bearing upon the fortunes of the party fall the attempt to secure Republican of which the President is the titular head and it was the most natural thing to a policy of disrupting the Republican

The half dozen young fellows comprising the crew of a yacht created quite a little flurry of excitement while endeavoring to leave "Pepperell's Cove" in the heavy wind of Friday forenoon. After narrowly escaping running down two other craft at anchor, they succeeded in planting their own boat firmly upon terra firma, where she remained, for some hours until released by the coming tide. Exhibitions of backwoods seamanship are not infrequent during the summer months, but strangers who evidently are wholly unacquainted with even the
A. B. C. of boat sailing are a menace to every harbor they visit, and boat owners here breathed easier when this particularly quaint rascal blundered out of the harbor.

ELIAS SMITH, HIS LIFE AND WORK

Chapter III.

In 1802, when Elias Smith began his labors in Portsmouth, the religious societies in this town were—the two Congregational (the North and the South), the Episcopal, the Universalist (then worshipping in what was afterwards the Camerium on Vaughan street), and the Independent Congregational (in 19th now Court street). These, with the Sondemanians, who some forty years earlier had built a meeting house on "Brimstone Hill" (whence its name?)
off Pleasant street, then constituted the churches of Portsmouth. The Baptists had no organization or house of worship, though there were evidently some of that faith and belief in the town. The Methodists date from 1808, and the Unitarians from that period in the history of the South Congregational church when its pastor, Rev. Dr. Nathan Parker, became a Unitarian after listening in Baltimore, to the discourse of Rev.
Dr. Channing at the ordination of Jared Sparks. This was after the building of the new "Stone Church" in 1826.

By the way, in this connection we might mention that the "Old North" society after the close of Rev. Dr. Buck-le's pastorate, came so near to Unitarianism as that the Parish, by a majority of one, voted to call a Unitarian minister; but the Church negated
the action of the Parish, and Rev. Dr.
Israel W. Putnam was subsequently called.

Previous to 1802 there appears to have been no distinctive body of Baptists in Portsmouth. Early in that year
George Osborne and Daniel Mason, Baptists, obtained leave of the selectmen of Portsmouth to have Baptist preachers attend a meeting in the North schoolhouse (site of the Parvian school) every Wednesday evening. They then applied to Elder Henry Pottle of Stratham to preach and invite other preachers—this being the first open door the Baptists had to preach here.

Elder Elias Smith being then in Stratham, Elder Pottle took him along with him. They came on Tuesday, July 13, and put up with Levi Whiggins, who lived a mile and a half out of town.
They first went to see Mr. Charles Petra, a bookseller, who was a Baptist, and who established the old Portsmouth Oracle (which afterwards became the Portsmouth Journal) and had conducted it for nine years up to 1801. He had turned his printing office into a place for holding evening meetings, and invited Elder Smith to preach that Tuesday evening. There was a good attendance and apparent attention to the preaching. The next evening the appointed meeting was held in the schoolhouse, which was well filled. Among the hearers was Rev. Dr. Buckminster.
Elder Smith was then appointed again to preach in two weeks from that evening.

The next day the two Elders went to Kittery to visit Moses Safford, who had spoken some in public. About this time some of the Baptist ministers were un-

ITALIANS TRY TO RUN THE DARDANELLES

Turkish Gunnery Destroys Several Torpedo Boats.

CONSTANTINOPLE, July 19.—Eight Italian torpedo boats attacked the entrance of the Dardanelles at 1.30 this morning. The Turkish forts replied vigorously, sinking two of the Italian war vessels, and damaging the other six. The cannonading lasted 45 minutes.

GRAND JURY TO INVESTIGATE STRIKE

BOSTON, July 19.—District Attorney Pelletier started an investigation at 1.30 this afternoon into the conditions of the strike of the street car men, to learn if there existed such evidence as would warrant his placing it before the Grand Jury.

Before he reached his office, or during his absence at lunch, there assembled fully 300 strikers, waiting to be called upon if it were found necessary. Assistant District Attorney Lavelle had the afternoon of the Grand Jury on the second floor and the lounge room used by grand jurors on the third floor open for them.

In the afternoon advanced more and more strikers appeared, until it seemed that the number would reach into many hundreds.

Mr. Pelletier began by a conference with James H. Vahey, counsel for the strikers, and Fred Fay, National organizer of the Street Car Men's Union.

Lesses, Fay and Vahey were among the first to arrive at the district attorney's office, and with them were these into Pemberton Square. Others appeared from various directions. Scores of these men wore their uniforms and caps, the latter without their Elevated numbers. In place of the company's shield many had the union button.

It seemed to be understood that the strikers were to remain in Pemberton Square until otherwise ordered. At 1.40 word came for them to march upstairs and they proceeded to the district attorney's office in the Court-house.

More strikers arrived with each succeeding minute until the crowd became very large and overflowed into the corridors.

WANTS EXHIBITION GAMES.

An old time Kittery sport has the following proposition to make: He would pick the following team to play the All Star team selected by the fans in this city. He would, however, take Jim Travers, the first choice of the All Star team as his pitcher.

His team would be as he puts it: Jim Travers, pitcher; Pruett, catcher; Ned Paul, first base; John Farnsworth, second base; "Jinks" Caswell, third base; Lombardi, short stop; Jimmy Able, right field; "Red" Hunsdon, left field, and Steve Grant, right. He says, "Lombardi is regarded as even better short than in the box, while Hunsdon would surprise the fans by his fielding."

GANG GOT TWO

New York Friends in New York Fatally Shot by Thugs.

NEW YORK, July 20.—As two men passed the corner of the 116th street and First avenue early yesterday morning, several then leaped at them from a doorway. Ten shots were fired and one of the passers fell. His companion ran.

When the police came the shooter had disappeared. The injured man, Vincent Galdi, was taken to the Harlem hospital. Hardly had he reached the operating room when Joseph Röss, his friend and neighbor, staggered into the building. He had a bullet wound in the abdomen. "The same gang which shot Galdi had come upon Röss a block or two away and fired upon him also. Both of the injured men will die."

Much dispute has arisen over the number of men at present employed at the yard and one report that got in print brought the number down to 300. Few of the present employees can remember when the working force was ever down to those figures. The fact is, there are 581 on the payroll, with the force increasing nearly every day.

Premier Scenic Temple Programme

Friday and Saturday we present an exceptionally strong program as follows:

"On the Brink of the Chasm," is a Pathé western drama that will make you sit up and take notice. The fine horsemanship, together with manly thrilling adventures make this one of the greatest western features of the year.

"The Stolen Ring"—A story that appeals to all perfectly portrayed by the Lubin company, featuring Mr. Arthur Johnson.

"I'm Going Back to Kentucky," by Von Tilzer.

"Would-be Hunter's Nightmare" Pathé. This is a very amusing comedy. A sure scream from beginning to end.

"Hairedressing of Other Days," Pathé. An interesting and very instructive picture.

"A Story of Montana," S-and-A. A gripping dramatic subject portrayed in the heart of the west, powerful in plot and featuring Mr. Anderson.

"Laugh and Let the Clouds Roll By," Schwartz.

Miss Margaret Pearson.

EVERYBODY'S KICKING

Figures on Tax Bills Bring Many With Protests to City Hall.

There was certainly something doing at City hall today, where a large number of citizens called on the several departments. They didn't call to view the remarkable building or to extend social greetings to the officials there. On the other hand they came with a general all-round kick over the taxes on real estate. All day long there was a steady line of callers moving from the assessors' office to that of the mayor and the city clerk. By the outlook not a few will pay under protest. Questions of all kinds were buried at the assessors and the board was the target of all people with a great howl in general about the city, but there is nothing left to do but walk right up and deliver the necessary to the collector.

MANY YEARS OF RAILROADING

Conductor Kennard Began in 1860 With the Old Eastern.

Charles W. Kennard, a passenger conductor of the Boston & Maine railroad, is quietly observing the seventieth anniversary of his birth today. The genial conductor is a native of Pilot, Me., and began his railroad life over a half century ago. He is one of the best known railroad men among the traveling public and has a record during the long period on the old Eastern and Boston & Maine that is creditable to any man. Conductor Kennard resides in Somerville and has a run on both the Eastern and Western routes of the Portland division.

ASK ASSISTANCE

London Strikers Appeal to Compensers Fearing Conquest By Starvation.

LONDON, July 20.—The leaders of the London dock strike yesterday sent a cablegram to Samuel Compensers, president of the American Federation of Labor, asking for immediate financial assistance. The local finances have become exhausted and the leaders fear that the strikers will be starved into an unconditional surrender.

CITY NEWS

They Like to Sleep Out Doors.

It is noted of late that not a few of our residents have got the "sleeping-out" habit. Many of them are slumbering in tents, while others have converted their piazza into an out-door chamber. Among those who have caught the fad are some of our local physicians.

Proprietor Wants Clerk to Ride.

The clerks at the store of D. F. Borthwick report a very enjoyable time at Hampton Beach when they passed the evening on the invitation of Mr. Borthwick, making the trip to Rye Centre in a special car. A basket lunch was enjoyed at the beach.

Very, Very Bad.

The Wentworth House-road leading from Squamere avenue to the Hotel Wentworth is certainly in great credit to the city of Portsmouth and the town of Rye. Not for many years has this highway been in such a condition as at the present time.

Taming the Squirrels.

The residents along Middle street are making great pets of squirrels in that section of the city. Many of the animals are so tame that they come to the doors of some of the houses for food. Nuts are left on the lawns and piazzas and the squirrels look for them regularly. They have appeared at the same places winter and summer for the nuts.

They All Go There.

Freeman's Point of late appears to be the picnic grounds for many small parties, especially those who hold Sunday outings.

The Race Was Exciting.
The running race for the championship of the Gimlet club was won by J. Kilroe and was certainly exciting while it lasted.

NOT LACKING IN PATRIOTISM

Walter and Howard Rand, two Boston brothers who annually pass a portion of the summer at their ancestral home on Salter street, Portsmouth, N. H., cannot be accused of lack of patriotism. Visiting Old Strawberry Bank lately I saw four large American flags flying proudly from different corners of their land, one of the four being a Union Jack, a naval emblem not commonly raised ashore.—D. C. in Boston Post.
